Day 21: Resources

Thank you for participating in the 21-Day Disability Equity Challenge. We hope that the information presented over the past month has helped you to see disability through a lens of equity and pride.

We know that this has been a lot of information, and perhaps much of it has introduced a new way of thinking for you. The 21-Day Disability Justice Challenge will remain posted on the SABE USA website. Feel free to re-visit topics that interest you that you may have missed. We encourage you to share and use what you have learned to promote disability equity and inclusion throughout your spheres of influence.

Resources

Below are some local and general resources related to disability justice and advocacy that may be helpful. There is a Disability Network or Center for Independent Living, or CIL, serving every county in the state of Michigan. Find your local CIL by visiting https://dnmichigan.org.

Since 1992, Disability Network Lakeshore has provided expert knowledge to Ottawa and Allegan Counties residents with disabilities. The organization believes that the power to decide how one wants to live their life should be placed in the hands of the individual, not the medical system. For more information, please contact DNL. The Arc of Allegan County provides advocacy; Information and Referral; Peer Support; Skills Development; and transition services to individuals of every county in the state of Michigan. Feel your local CIL by visiting https://arc-resources.org/.
